TARIFF DUTY ON COFFEE.

The suggestion that, in view of the Government's need of revenue a tariff duty be levied upon coffee, was recently set affoat in a very quiet manner. It tariff duty on coffee, which is not produced in this country or its dependenfree trade measure and, as such, could without saying. not be expected to pass a Republican stated, we have no such infant industry, though there is some slight possibility of coffee production in Porto his fingers, as was at one time re-Rico and the Philippines. But a ser- ported. jes of years would be required to even stat the culture, even if climatic been a Republican principle that all tariff duties should protect home in- Southport, intended to go to New Ha- State grange at Hartford, Jan. 12, 13 dustries, and coffee is not such now ven on Tuesday to attend a symphony and 14 as delegates from Harmony nor likely to become such for years to come, if ever.

It appears that abnormally large crops in a great surplus which has reached the adults, was 3,797; juvenile, 1,870; visitcontrol of speculators. Imposition of a ors, 5,385; a total of 11,052. The daily tariff duty, to go into effect on some shipment of that surplus here before that date, and then the price would at about $75,000,000. From this coffee, the government would receive no revenue; consumers would pay 5 cents more per pound, and thus the holders of the coffee would profit the full-amount of the duty. There would be neither protection of an infant industry nor revenue for the government.

If the government is in such urgent reed of increased revenune as calls for a tariff duty on coffee, the date of its going into effect should be so early that this surplus stock cannot reach our ports in time to escape it.

"AFTER CLAPS" OF THE CONTEST A notable point in most of the comments by the managers and supporters of the Hill forces in the Senatorial contest upon the result, is that his candidacy has made a splendid beginning for the next time. The term of Senator Bulkeley will expire on March 4th, 1911, and his successor will be chosen by the General Assembly to be elected next year. That is "the next time" referred to by Mr. Hill's friends will come next year, 1910. As Senators very seldom retire voluntarily. Mr. Bulkeley will probably be a candidate for re-election.

Had he, this year, refrained from alding Senator Brandegee, it is quite probable that Mr. Hill would have received the nomination, and the way would have been cleared for his own (Bulkeley's) re-election next year. But he, instead, aided the Brandegee candidacy and must now confront Mr. Hill with exceedingly dubious chances of success. Not even the Bulkeley "barrel." supported by the Bulkeley influence, will give him more than "a fighting chance."

The Hartford Courant says that at one time Mr. Hill seemed to have actually won, but the prize "slipped away Tuesday." This slipping away appears to have been coincident with Senator Bulkeley's active appearance upon the We are strongly inclined to believe that Brandegee owes his success $4.25; Greening, $3.75 @ $4.50. to his colleague and that, therefore, he will even more than heretofore carry out the "Me Too" role.

Of course, in that "next time," the Statet machine will favor Bulkeley. It has great respect for the man with the "barrel," as was indicated by its ready response to Brandegee's $5,000 subscription to the campaign of last year. Thus, the Senatorial contest of 1910 of the movement to establish a Nawill be, as in the one just ended, between the machine and the people, but possibly the Republican rank and file will be more careful in the selection of a decided sentiment in favor of lot- home of Mrs. T. State Treasurer Patten recommends such an increase of the inheritance tax as will produce twice as much revenue as at present, and also the reimposition of the State tax on towns. There is no doubt that the state in popular parlance, "needs the money," and also no doubt that the General Assembly will not reduce expenditures to the limit of present revenue.

Both the taxes recommended are unpopular, the inheritance tax because it is in effect, a double tax, provided the deceased has during life paid taxes upon his property; the tax on towns, because those assessing property at full valuation would pay more proportionately than those assessing at less than full value. For these reasons and under exsisting conditions, both One Year $3.00 of the taxes recommended would work lectible and that the state "needs the
